I regret my inability to agree with the Secretary. There was an enormous difference between the usual work of these officials and the very heavy work they were called upon to do under the Special Commissioner. The bonuses proposed are by no means moderate and I would strongly recommend that they be sanctioned. I have spent several days over the file and I can quite realize the magnitude of the work done by these officials. The

Memo

The work connected with the Special Enquiry being now over I beg to submit the following for the favourable consideration of the Special Commissioner

The magnitude of the work was at first not foreseen and it was hoped one clerk would ~~~~ office Jamadar Lowanaya who was deputed to assist me has been throughout in charge of the records, and has rendered me every assistance in the preparation of statements and the discharge of other clerical duties. We had very often to work out of office-hours and during holidays, and I always found him willing, obedient and zealous.

When all the records & books came in, and when elaborate statistics had to be prepared the need for another clerk was badly felt. The Special Commissioner was kind enough to depute his

Quite so. Does this clerk who helped the enquiry & the case & the summing up of the Report? Were two clerks borne on head & deserve some remuneration. Remuneration may be given & mentioned now the work is finished & finished. If not, this will not be granted personal clerk Srinivasaraya of the Chief Court to assist me In addition to his other duties he has for more than a month worked with Ramakrishnaiya and rendered material help

As the examination of witnesses proceeded copies of depositions had to be made and given to the advocates on both sides The services of a typist were required for this work and also for copying the Report and Appendices Mr Ananthanarayana Row to whom I applied readily lent me the services of clerk Rajagopala and later, of Narayana Rao and Kandy Krishna Rao and kindly permitted them to work with the machine at his Residence in addition to using one in the office Both these clerks of the Dewan's office have worked very willingly and zealously often attending to the work both in the morning and in the afternoon

Rajagopala did good work in the course of the inquiry and Narayana Rao did much of the Report but taking hand to appendix Srinivasa & Rajagopala also helped him towards the end. In course of work and may be found useful in the future. Narayana Rao worked with a good deal of intelligence and turned out a good deal more work in the time and he expected to ordinary
